

CHAPTER V CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1 Conclusion

The job training of translating short stories entitled “Circus Girl, The Hunter, and Mirror Boy” aimed to help readers understand the English short story “Circus Girl, The Hunter, and Mirror Boy” in Indonesian. There were some steps and some translation techniques used to translate the story. Based on the results of this job training, the most used technique was Borrowing, while the least used technique was Description. In addition, some obstacles encountered during this job training can be minimized and overcome.

5.2 Suggestions

Becoming a translator requires a lot of knowledge about the source language and the target language. To produce the accurate and easy to understand translations, a translator must know kind of vocabularies, so that it is not difficult to find the right equivalent in the source language. In addition, the translator must also know the structure of wording in the source language and target language.

A translator also have to practice translating kinds of texts. A lot of practice can help to increase vocabulary mastery and improve the ability in the field of translation. In addition, a translator can also attend seminars about translation to find new inspiration in the field of translation. All these efforts can improve the skill of translator and make a good quality translation.