

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND IMPLICATION

A. Conclusion

Based on the study's results, the researcher can conclude that there is an application of the principles of Good Governance in the use of Village Funds in Linggasari Village, Kembaran District. It runs well, but several obstacles result in the implementation not being maximized. This can be seen from several informants who became sources of information in the study. From the results of the information that has been analyzed, in the application of the accountability principle the Linggasari Village government applies the accountability principle, it can be seen how the village government can manage the Village Fund in accordance with the regulations so that the realization of the use of the Village Fund can be carried out, the principle of transparency is also applied in what way the village government provides access to information to parties in need, especially the community, another principle is participation where the village government in making plans and realizing the use of the Village Fund involves the community in a way that the community can give their aspirations to plan the use of the Village Fund, it was also found that there were obstacles that made the principles of Good Governance not optimal, namely there was a lack of community participation where the community did not know information about the Village Fund so that only a few people knew information about the Village Fund, this is caused by the lack of curiosity and initiative from the community to find out information about the Village Fund, another obstacle is also the difficulty of determining the priority scale of the Village Fund because of the many proposals or aspirations that come from the community through community leaders submitted at the musrenbangdes so that not all the proposals given can be realized. The impact felt by the community affects the welfare of the community, starting from the fields of health, development, and education. From the realization of the use of the Village Fund, the community can feel the benefits of assistance in the health sector which makes public health can be monitored and controlled regularly, as well as the development that is beneficial for the community. Ease of access to public roads and reduce the occurrence of accidents that can occur, Direct Cash Assistance (BLT) also helps the community to meet their daily needs, but some people do not know the rules for people who are entitled to receive such assistance.

B. Implication

Based on the analysis results and the conclusions in this study, it can be seen that applying the principles of Good Governance in Linggasari Village is carried out well. Still, several factors hinder the application of the principle to the use of village funds for community welfare. This occurs because people do not understand information on the use of village funds that the village government has provided, so certain parties only know that information about village funds.

C. Research Limitations

The limitation of this study is the difficulty of researchers to conclude the study from the study results because the informants do not know much about the use of village funds in Linggasari Village.
