

V. Simpulan Dan Implikasi

A. Conclusion

Based on the data analysis conducted, , the following can be concluded: The use of village funds in the infrastructure development of Karangsalam Lor village, Baturraden District, based on planning, implementation, reporting, and accountability for village fund management, was deemed effective based on data analysis results. In Karangsalam Lor Village, community perceptions of the use of village funds for infrastructure development indicate satisfaction with the use of village funds.

B. Suggestion

1. For Village Apparatus

It is recommended that the village head and apparatus will have a better understanding of the central government's objectives; thus, the development can be conducted effectively and efficiently. The Village Head and also village officials and village institutions as village governments to be sensitive and responsive to the potential and according to the necessities of the village community for progress and more advanced village development.

2. For the Community

The community participates in maintaining and caring for the village government's development results, supports the village government's programme, and actively participates in musrembang and village management oversight.

C. Research Limitations

This study has several limitations, including using only three indicators of planning, implementation, reporting, and accountability and only employed one method: interviews with community indicators.

