ABSTRACT

Bullying is a continuous act of aggression with the intention to harm a more vulnerable individual. This study aims to determine the prevention of bullying crimes committed by children in the school environment. The research uses an empirical juridical approach method with descriptive analytical research specifications. The research location was at the Depok Metro Resort Police (Depok Metro Police). Based on the results of research and discussion, the countermeasures for bullying crimes committed by children in the school environment by the Depok Metro Police are grouped into 3 (three) efforts, including preemptive efforts, preventive efforts, and repressive efforts. In addition, there are several inhibiting factors including human resources, legislation, and legal culture.

Keywords: Countermeasures, Children, Bullying.
