- Fashion and random fluctuation are showed 88 data

- Foreign bodies are showed 2 data

- Social need are showed 102 data

b. How the change of social class influence the main characters' utterances are mentioned as follows:

- They use bad language and act rudely when they are around members of The Millers. On the other hand, they use good language and act politely when they are around other people.

5.2 Recommendations

The researcher gives some recommendation or suggestions after conducting the research. The suggestions are for the readers, other researchers, the lecturers, and the script writers.

Based on the results of the research, the researcher hopes this research could develop and enrich English Literature Department students' knowledge who take linguistics as the major of their study, especially in sociolinguistics. The researcher recommends the readers, particularly the students of English Literature Department to do another research that deals with Sociolinguistics but in different topic. There are some possible ways to bring other issues or topics of the researches by using movie or other objects that are dealing with language change and social class. For the lecturers, the researcher suggests the lecturers to give recommendation to the students about Sociolinguistics deeper. Therefore, the students can know and use this research as the reference to help the research relating to language change and social class. Lastly, the researcher hopes this research will be beneficial for the script writers. It aims to make clear difference and clear characterization in the movies, but it has to be related with the social context of the movie.
